ent of the Traps—A Few Hits and Many Misses—Glass Ball Contests,

Cockrell's shooting grounds were enlivened again last evening by the presence of a pleasant crowd, notwithstanding the incessant rain from early morning till long after noon. The attractions were another test for the prize medal, a sweepstake and a glass ball match.

The gold medal match was at ten birds, twenty-six yards rise. Miss and out. There were seven entries, to wit: Leland, Saunders, Hunt, Martin, Merriman, Crockett and Gibson. In the first score Leland, Saunders, Hunt, Martin and Merriman dropped their birds, Crockett and Gibson missed and retired. On the second score all made "goose eggs" save Merriman, who, according to the rule to "miss and retire," continued to fire, and killed ten birds in succession, which entitled him to the medal.

role to "miss and retire," continued to fire, and killed ten birds in succession, which entitled him to the medal.

The second match was a sweepstake, twenty-six yards rise at five birds, for first and second money. There were six entries, as follows: Saunders, Leland, Merriman, Hunt, Martin and Voorheis. In the first score Saunders, Leland, Merriman and Hunt bagged their birds. Martin and Voorheis missed and retired. On the second, third and fourth score Saunders, Leland, Merriman and Hunt each dropped their game. On the fifth and last inning Saunders alone secured his bird, which entitled him to the first money. For the second money Martin and Voorheis were allowed in to try for four birds. Martin missed the first shot. Voorheis hit the first and m saed the second. The contestants—Leland, Merriman and Hunt—decided at one bird each, which was hit by Leland and Merriman, Hunt missing, tied them, they dividing.

The third gratch at five glass balls, eighteen yards rise, was won by Merriman. There were five entries, Leland, Merriman, Saunders, Martin and Voorheis. The following was the score: Leland missed, Merriman five balls, Saunders two balls, Martin two balls, and Voorheis missed.

Owing to the threatening approach of rain there was rapid, and consequently some wild shooting in the last match. The scores in the first two matches were well earned, as the birds were strong and game, besides the day being cloudy and the light uncertain.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Bos-ton Christian Freeman: "We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup we can speak from knowledge. In our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colleging any state of the present the colleging and the colic pains, quiet sleep, and the parents un-broken rest at night. Most parents can ap-preciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless, for the sleep which it affords the infantant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as 'bright as a button.' And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say that they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any consideration whatever." important Opinion of Great Interes to Farmers, Delivered by Judge Hammond in the United States Court.

In the Federal court yesterday a decision was made of general interest to farmers along the lines of railroads in Tennessee. Mrs. Ward granted the right of way to the Paducah railroad through her farm and made no re-quirement that the company should construct cattle guards, or pay her money enough to make fences to protect her crops. The commake fences to protect her crops. The company did, however, poer ruct cattle guards, but neglected to keep them in repair, and straying begs entered the fields and destroyed her crops, for which she claimed $1581 damages. The master allowed her $973 27, but Judge Hammond set aside the allowance and damissed her netition. He holds that no contract to keep up the cattle-guards would be implied, and that where the charter of a railroad company does not require it there is no common law or statute quire it there is no common law or statute compelling railroads to maintain cattleguards for the protection of farms.
